

FOR THE FAMILIES YOU SERVE

ExecutorLedger

The estate's records, kept right, and the court-style accounting built from them.

Settling an estate hands an ordinary person a bookkeeping job with legal consequences attached. ExecutorLedger records what the estate receives and pays, tracks the deadlines for their state with the statute behind each, and turns the records into the court-style accounting and inventory their state expects.

WHAT IT COSTS THE FAMILY

Recording is free for as long as the estate takes, and every document previews free with their real numbers. With the discount code below, $99 (one-time payment) for the estate lifts the watermark from every document, instead of $149. Usually less than one attorney hour, and typically reimbursable by the estate. Full refund within 14 days, and their records export free at any time.

Your discount code: _____

HOW A FAMILY USES IT

1. Go to executorledger.com and press Start free. No email is needed to begin.
2. Record as things happen: the accounts, the bills, the sales, the distributions.
3. When documents are due, choose Unlock and enter the discount code above on the checkout page.

FREE TO SEE, FREE TO USE

Nothing here asks a family to trust unknown software. Free plain-English guides to every state's process and free templates are at executorledger.com, finished example documents are at executorledger.com/sample, and every document a family builds can be read in full before any payment. They only pay to export, with a 14-day full refund, and their records export free at any time either way.

WHAT THIS PROGRAM IS

There are no fees and no signup for you, and no data changes hands in either direction: we never know who received a card, only that a discount code was used. ExecutorLedger is software, not a law firm; families should review exports with the estate's attorney.
